Preface

The various important works particularly on the Vedas, Darshana, Puranas, Dharmashastra, Mantras etc. deposited presently in the Alwar branch came to be acquired first during the reign of Sawai Vinaya Singh (1814-1857) A. D. of Alwar. He gave all encouragement and help for the establishment of a manuscript library and inspired scholars to assemble together and indulge in religious discourses This led to the establishment of a separate "Pustak Shala" in the year 1848 A.D. Like Sawai Jai Singh of Jaipur he too made Alwar a place where learned Pandits could find a place for exhibiting their traditional knowledge of the scriptural texts.

One Pt. Ganga Dhar Joshi was the first to hold charge of this library and his descendants who were equally conversant with the "Shastras" held the office for long. Later, in the times of Maharaja Tej Singh, Major C.W.L. Harvey as Prime Minister organised a museum of different art objects and the "Pustak Shala" was also merged into it.

Peter Peterson in his capacity as Professor of Sanskrit in the Elphinstone College, Bombay was the first to prepare a catalogue of this collection mostly in Sanskrit. Printed in the year 1892 it catalogues manuscripts numbering 2478, all in Sanskrit. Possibly, this was the total number then reached.

The State Government paid quick attention towards the preservation of this ancient heritage and opened a branch of the Rajasthan Oriental Research Institute, the way it has done at other places like Jaipur, Kota, Bikaner, Chittorgarh, Udaipur & Bharatpur.

Out of the total number of Alwar manuscripts numbering 6711 a fairly good number i.e. 1687 were obtained in donation. The lead was taken by Pt. Poorna Malji when he parted with some 200 manuscripts in his possession. Later, Pt. Laxmi Kantji Vaidya donated the "Rama Kantji Collection" of 200 manuscripts and some 500 printed books and periodicals of immense reference value. Pt. Ram Datta ji who had once worked in the "Shala" donated some 1393 works that include manuscripts numbering. 335 Others include Sarvashri Pt. Pitamber Das (60 mss), Nandan Lalji Misra (42 mss), Ramesh Chandraji Bhargava (144 mss);

Thakur Chiddu Singh (59 mss), Shankar Lalji (104 mss), Pyare Lalji Sharma (5 mss), Amarnathji Saraswat (166 mss). Pt Shiv Dattaji who resided in the Hazari Mohalla had some 500 manuscripts. He had kindly agreed to donate the entire lot but his untimely death gave a jolt and we could get only a negligible number of manuscripts from his son Pt. Shyam Lalji. We hope he will soon take a decision for the remaining number. The Trustees of the 'Sridhar Sanskrit Vidyalaya, Brahmapuri, Jaipur also enriched the Alwar collection by handing over more than 500 Journals.

The list however does not end here. Other manuscript donors include Sarvashri Goverdhan Lalji, Mahavir Prasad Kulshrestha, Daulat Ram Parikh Mahesh Chandra Saraswat (donated by his widow), Durga Prasad, Nawal Kishore Sharma, Piyush Kant Vasistha, Mahabir Prasad Gupta, Sri Gunesh Harumal Tolani and Sriman Narayan, although their manuscripts do not figure in the present volume. We greatly appreciate and acknowledge with thanks the largeheartdeness shown by the donors. The number donated matters little but the vision shown by them in preserving them at a public place deserves the fullest appreciation.

The present volume covers 5985 entries, dealing with manuscripts in Sanskrit and Prakrit upto accession no. 6295 Extracts from some selected manuscripts may help scholars in ascertaining the variety deposited here.

The spade- work was done by Shri Veni Madhav Sharma, Senior Research Assistant posted at Alwar. As he had prepared in Hindi, Sh. Onkar Lal Menaria, Assistant Director, was assigned the work of rendering it into the Roman alphabets and characters, besides preparing the indicies etc. Sh. Vinay Sagar, Senior Research Assistant glanced through the classification of subject-headings and made necessary changes. As cosharers in finalising this bulky volume they have done their respective job quite satisfactorily Dr. Deo Kumar, Surveyor took the extracts from important manuscripts. Proof- reading was done by Dr. D.B. Ksheersagar, Senior Research Assistant and Sh. Girdhar Vallabh Dadhich, Junior Technical Assistant. All deserve a word of thanks. M/s Himalaya Printers & Pankaj Printers Jodhpur remain to be thanked for printing the volume with due care and devotion. However, for errors and omissions. I seek indulgence of readers.

P.D. Pathak Director
